VENUS EN VOGUE

Autumn/Winter 13/14

For the Autumn 2013 collection Kaviar Gauche designers, Alexandra Fischer-Roehler and Johanna Kühl, chose to show in an iconic Paris fashion location, the Couvent des Récollets. The intimate ambiance of the chapel, with its copper floors and rouge noir exposed brick walls, perfectly set the scene for the collection.

Kaviar Gauche has made its seasonal ode to contemporary femininity, which for the designers is always the juxtaposition of contrasting elements: stylistically tough, tailored silhouettes combined with sensuous, feminine shapes.

The collection has proved an exercise in reigning in the flamboyance of forms found in nature, embracing petal patterns anew, transforming them into modern, geometric stencils. Couture detailing and laser stencils reference the decorative arts using the technique as appliqués in matt and patent leathers, metals and silks worked in to dresses, shoulder caps and tops.

Inspiration lies in the contrasting aesthetics of nomadic tribes and high culture. The Kaviar Gauche woman is on a cultural journey gathering and layering the pieces as she goes. She is the beloved Venus. The ultra woman but modernised in her metallics, lasered leather and oversized silhouettes.

Layers of silk tops, leather tunics and oversized drop pocket tailoring are combined with flowing wing trousers and floor length skirts. Belted faux fur gilets and jackets in cotton candy colours envelope and embolden delicate looks of marron noir and black leather lace.

The collection pieces are produced exclusively in Germany, the accessories are made in Italy.

THE DESIGNER-DUO BEHIND KAVIAR GAUCHE, ALEXANDRA FISCHER-ROEHLER AND JOHANNA KÜHL, HAVE OPENED THEIR FIRST KAVIAR GAUCHE STORE IN MUNICH.

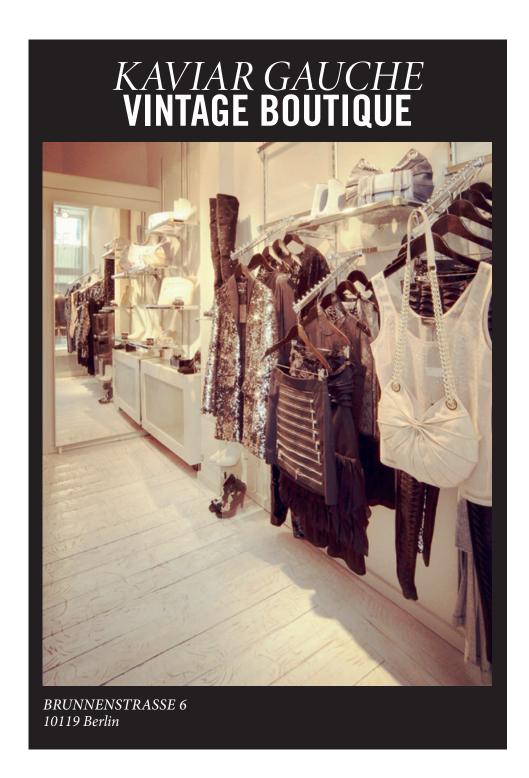

In the 60 sqm store one finds not only the Prêt-à-Porter and Accessories Collection but also KAVIAR GAUCHE's Bridal Couture line. The new store in Munich mirrors the design concept of the Berlin Flagship Store and therefore opens a further door to the world of KAVIAR GAUCHE: blush-coloured walls, ivory wooden floors and high ceilings. The com-plete interior has been designed by the atelier of KAVIAR GAUCHE and is heavily inspired by their Autumn Winter 2013/14 collection. Organic forms dominate the room, corners and sharp edges have been avoided as far as possible. Instead, floral elements can be found to con-trast with the modern interior of the premises.

One highlight of the boutique, which also decorates the store in Berlin, is the tree sculpture made of polished high-grade steel. The sculpture is draped with elegant Bridal Couture dresses like delicate leaves, ready for the Munich clients.

The KAVIAR GAUCHE Store is open Monday to Friday from 11.00 until 19.00 and Saturday from 11.00 until 18.00. (Contact: 089/41144086, munich@kaviargauche.com)

Right in the middle of the Berlin-Mitte district, Kaviar Gauche has opened a little Vintage Boutique. The petite space impresses like a treasure chest filled with jewels. It offers an exclusive collection of pre-season, limited edition items, press samples and one of a kind show pieces.

Besides the limited edition garments, there is also an exclusive selection of accessories and shoes. Classic key pieces like the Lamella bag in different colors from previous seasons and sizes, deserve special attention. And of course, like the other pieces, they are reasonably priced.

The Kaviar Gauche Vintage Boutique is surely worth a visit. It's charming, captivating and cosy and will surprise with high ceilings, bright wooden floors and a compact and bijou dressing room – giving the boutique a personal and unique touch.
